Lacy pointed to Meredith's recent decision to increase its annual dividend 50 percent to $1.53 per share, along with Board approval of authorization to repurchase $100 million of Meredith common stock, as the twin pillars of the Company's commitment to a balanced Total Shareholder Return agenda. The next and higher quarterly dividend, representing a yield of 5.8 percent based on today's closing price, will be payable on December 15, 2011 to shareholders of record at the close of business on November 30, 2011.

Lacy also cited a series of strategic investments Meredith has made in recent months including (1) the acquisition of the Every Day with Rachael Ray and EatingWell media brands and the launch of Recipe.com in the food space; (2) the introduction of tablet editions of its leading brands; (3) an extension and expansion of its licensing agreement with Walmart; and (4) an investment in global marketing services company Iris.

"These steps represent strategic and tangible actions we're taking to strengthen the performance of our businesses and increase shareholder value," Lacy said. "They demonstrate our ongoing ability to generate strong and sustainable free cash flow, even in the current economic climate. We remain confident and committed to strong cash flow generation over time, and to a balanced Total Shareholder Return agenda."
